iron phosphate option.

Just like any battery technology, saltwater batteries store electricity for use at a later time. The main difference between saltwater batteries and other energy storage options (for example, lithium-ion and lead-acid batteries) is their chemistry. In saltwater batteries, a liquid solution of salt water is used to capture, store, and eventually discharge energy.

mm), iron concentration in alkaline and saline battery samples was below 0.2% and 1.0%, respectively. The chemical analysis also shows that batteries are highly concentrated metal bearing materials with potential value. Average battery compositions for the three main metals are 18-20% Zn, 18-23% Mn and 23-26% Fe. 0 20 40 60 80 100 0.01 0.1 1 10 100
