How does Ecuador get its energy?

Ecuador derives the vast majority of its energy supply from oil, particularly in the transport and industrial sectors. Hydro power is also a key energy source, accounting for more than 62% of installed electrical capacity and nearly 78% of electricity generation in 2020, with fossil fuels providing most of the remainder.

What role does hydropower play in Ecuador's electricity mix?

Hydropower has played a key and growing role in Ecuador's electricity mix by displacing fossil fuels and helping meet higher domestic electricity demand. In 2011, hydroelectric power accounted for 55% of the country's electricity mix, and electricity from fossil fuels accounted for 43%.

What is Ecuador's Energy Outlook?

Ecuador's energy outlook has undergone a drastic change in recent times. The country is fast moving from conventional sources of energy to more clean, renewable-based energy. There is a shift from a heavy reliance on fossil fuels to nearly complete self-sufficiency through renewable energies, particularly hydroelectric power.

Why is the Ecuadorian electricity sector considered strategic?

The Ecuadorian electricity sector is considered strategic due to its direct influence with the development productive of the country. In Ecuador for the year 2020, the generation capacity registered in the national territory was 8712.29 MW of NP (nominal power) and 8095.25 MW of PE (Effective power). The generation sources are presented in Table 1.

Is there a potential for electricity generation in Ecuador?

Based on what has been described, it is identified that there is a high potential for electricity generation in Ecuador, especially the types of projects and specific places to start them up by the central state and radicalize the energy transition.

How much power does Ecuador need a year?

Electricity demand grows by 200 MW every year, meaning Ecuador should add 250 MW or 300 MW of new power generation each year. However, Ecuador has added minimal additional generation in the last three years.
