

By the end of the decade, the factory will be churning out 100 gigawatt hours (GWh) of battery capacity each year. This would be enough to equip a million cars (based on current EV capacities) and make Hungary one of the main manufacturers in Europe -- in line with the government's plans to become "a great power" of battery production.

Sunwoda, one of the world's top ten battery manufacturers, is setting up its first European plant in Hungary in response to growing demand from the continent's automotive industry.

Next to fields of corn and sunflowers near the city of Debrecen in eastern Hungary, workers in hard hats pour concrete into the foundations of what will be Europe's biggest factory making batteries for electric vehicles.

Hungary wants to become a key producer of electric vehicle batteries. Government spending has attracted investments, including a new Chinese gigafactory.

The debate over the battery factory in Debrecen in northern Hungary, may seem to concern environmental issues, but the investment is reportedly being attacked because of the growing economic competition, the Parliamentary Secretary of State of the Prime Minister's Office said in a video post on Facebook on Sunday. According to Csaba Dömötör, those who oppose ...

It is not only during battery manufacturing that hazardous waste--such as heavy metals and NMP-- are produced. What makes heavy metals and NMP particularly significant is their volume; given the expected increase in production once all planned and under-construction plants begin operations, it is almost certain that their quantities will rise ...
