Can the Democratic Republic of the Congo produce lithium-ion battery cathode precursor materials?

London and Kinshasa, November 24, 2021 - The Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) can leverage its abundant cobalt resources and hydroelectric power to become a low-cost and low-emissions producer of lithium-ion battery cathode precursor materials.

Will hard-rock lithium be exploited in the DRC?

Global Witness' report raises key questions around how future production and its environmental impacts will be managed and who stands to benefit if the DRC's deposits of hard-rock lithium are exploited to meet the growing demand for minerals critical to renewable energy technologies.

Is the DRC's lithium sector a swathe of potential supply chain risks?

13 December 2021 (Updated 31 January 2022) - A new investigation into the DRC's nascent but globally significant lithium sector sounds the alarm on a swathe of potential supply chain risks.

Where did Global Witness find a hard-rock lithium deposit?

Global Witness' investigation looked at a sample block of 51 mining concessions, concentrated close to the town of Manono in southern DRC, where globally significant, hard-rock lithium deposits have been discovered.
