Does home insurance cover rooftop solar panels?

Yes, most home insurance policies do cover rooftop solar panels. By installing solar panels you are enabling your house to produce its own electricity. These rooftop solar panels are usually considered a permanent attachment to your property, similar to a patio or a security system and can, therefore, be considered a form of home improvement.

Do I need insurance for a solar panel system?

In most cases, there is no need to get additional insurance to cover your solar panel system. However, since solar is worth thousands or even tens of thousands of dollars and can add around $10,000 to $30,000 of value to your home, we might recommend raising your coverage limit to cover the cost of your home with the solar panel system.

Will solar panels increase my home insurance?

Many insurance providers offer discounts on home insurance costs if you make the house more eco-friendly. Adding solar panels to power your home definitely fits the bill. The only way to know if the price of your homeowner's insurance will increase due to the solar panels is to speak with your insurance agent.

Can solar panels damage your roof?

Installing rooftop solar panels can damage your roof unless you work with an experienced and licensed solar installation team. Your home insurance may not cover this damage, forcing you to pay for repairs out of pocket. The only way to know for sure is to speak with your insurance agent.

Are solar panels covered under a homeowner's policy?

This means that as long as you own your solar panels and they are rooftop-mounted (additional policies may be required for ground-mounted systems), the system will be included under a homeowner's policy and covered in standard plans without raising your premium.

How much does solar panel insurance cost?

The solar panel insurance cost will depend on various things like your location, your current coverage amount, the size and cost of your system, and your insurance company's plan. Claims for damaged solar panels would also vary based on your insurance plan, but likely follows the same process as other damaged property claims.
