In early 2019, SonLight Power partnered with Back2Back to install a 43-kilowatt solar microgrid at their 6-acre campus outside of Port-au-Prince. The campus includes multiple buildings to accommodate mission teams, staff ...

Beneath the surface of a resurgent slave power, dreams of another Haiti stirred. In Jamaica, the British and the colonial planters would come to terms with the Haiti government, and the threat of further slave revolts would help propel the slow process towards abolition. But the end of slavery hardly translated into freedom or democracy for the ...
