Is energy deficit a looming challenge in Tanzania?

This study reviews the trends and underlying drivers of energy demand, supply, and cost in Tanzania. Total primary energy and electricity consumption exhibit a rising trend, and challenges on the supply side suggest energy deficit is a looming challenge in the future.

Why is the cost of electricity important in Tanzania?

This makes the cost of energy in Tanzania and in any economy a critical policy and national issue. The cost of electricity in Tanzania has remained a central issue in the bid to achieve an affordable and efficient supply (i.e., financially viable electricity sub-sector) of energy.

Which energy sources dominate primary energy consumption in Tanzania?

Natural gas and coal energy constitute a respective share of 0.38% and 0.54% of total primary energy consumption. Thus, high-carbon energy dominates total primary energy consumption in Tanzania.

How much energy does Tanzania produce?

In 2020, Tanzania's total energy production reached 1,036,560 TJ, with a significant majority derived from biofuels and waste, which accounted for approximately 79.14% of the total. Natural gas contributed 5.35%, while oil accounted for 12.96% of the energy mix.

Why do Tanzanians need energy services?

They include health, education, telecommunication, and water, especially in rural areas. In Tanzania, energy services are required for the growing usage of mobile phones in the country, which has more than 11.7 million registered users as of March 2014 (AfDB, OECD, and UNDP, 2015).
