However, we are aware that in some instances solar PV installations are sold between companies, especially when companies go out of business. This change in ownership may not be communicated to the homeowner.

Do you need a lease agreement for solar panels?

If you're moving into a property with solar panels installed as part of a 'rent-a-roof' scheme, there should be a signed agreement between the homeowner and the rent-a-roof company. This could be a lease agreement, where the homeowner agrees to rent out their roof space to the company which installed the solar panels.

What makes a good solar installation contract?

Like most contracts, home solar contracts can be filled with all kinds of terms, language, and details that the average person might not be familiar with. A good solar installation contract is designed to protect both you and your solar provider, so it's important to understand the various sections and what they mean.

Should homeowners pay for solar panels upfront?

Homeowners who pay for their panels upfront with cash, or through a solar loan, will see something different than someone who signs a solar lease or solar power purchase agreement (PPA). While solar contracts will differ by provider and project, most of them contain a certain amount of shared verbiage and content.
